Fourth Annual Wireless Airport Association Conference and Exposition

October 31-November 2, 2004 • Washington, D.C. • Mtg. #041002

The American Association of Airport Executives, in cooperation with the Airports Council International-North America (ACI-NA) and the Air Transport Association (ATA), is pleased to announce the Fourth Annual Wireless Airport Association Conference and Exposition.

Come learn about the fast developing world of wireless technology at airports! This is the premier airport wireless conference bringing the major wireless players together to learn about the wireless challenges and solutions at airports. This is your chance to learn about the different wireless models and standards that are being used by airports around the nation.

Scheduled for October 31-November 2, 2004, in Washington D.C., the conference will cover a host of issues ranging from security implications of wireless services to the newest wireless technologies available for airports, airlines and passengers. Conference presentations will cover the major wireless issues that airports and airlines are facing today in aviation.

Airport executives, airline officials and industry experts with technology, security, operations and infrastructure responsibilities should not miss this special opportunity to learn how others are using wireless solutions for both on-airport operations and for public-side passenger uses.

For those new to the industry or desiring a refresher course, fundamentals of wireless technology and their relationship to airports will be reviewed. Experts and novices alike will find valuable and timely information in the program.

This conference is more important than ever as airport professionals struggle with the dynamic challenges of today's world. You will come away from the meeting with new ideas that may prove to be the right solutions for your airport, airline or company.

All sessions will take place at the Loews L'Enfant Plaza Hotel in Washington, D.C. The meeting will begin with a reception at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 31, and will end at approximately 5 p.m. on Tuesday, November 2.
